A leader in high-end custom home building, Houston's Bay Area Harbour Classic Builders has grown steadily since the company was founded in 1999. Harbour Classic's solid reputation of honesty and integrity provides its buyers with the confidence they need during the purchase process.

"My team works closely with each client throughout the entire home building procedure," Murphy Yates, owner of Harbour Classic Builders, says. "The hands-on attention allows for each home to be specifically tailored to the clients' wants, needs and desires."

Murphy began his career in the homebuilding business in 1992 after graduating from college. He has led his company to be the premier high-end custom builder in the Clear Lake and surrounding areas.

He credits his success to carefully choosing lot position, insisting on a quality product, and providing unparalleled service to his customers. "The motivating force behind our efforts is to make certain we have a satisfied buyer in the end," Yates says. Harbour Classic encourages its prospective buyers to contact current homeowners to get a true feel for how they treat customers before, during and after the construction of their home.
